Never Say Never™ Media Kit

The hilarious game of horrible hypotheticals

Never Say Never™ Media Kit

Game Night Just Got More Hilarious

Introduction

Prince Chijioke is the founder and brains behind the game

Smashed Studios started back in 2017 as an idea for a creative outlet that would force me to finally turn the ideas in my head into real projects. Obviously, it is now 2020, but I finally got off my butt during quarantine and decided to put out a project.

Prince

Are you ready?

Let's Begin!

Do you really know them?

This game is definitely the love-child of an overactive imagination and time spent indoors during COVID-19. So, if you want to see what kind of crazy, rude, or dangerous things your friends or family would do, and you like game nights that involve lots of talking, then I hope you enjoy. I think you'll love it at least 90% as much as I do.

So many ways to play...

Dare to be wild: Where it makes sense, challenge someone to earn their point by actually doing what the card says.

Money is not an object: Ban the use of reasons where a large monetary payday would justify the action (e.g. none of that for $1 million crap).

Gauntlet: Everyone plays a card face-down. Turn them all over and see which scenario the least number of people would do.

Nevers gotta drink: I think this one's self explanatory... If you say never then go ahead and throw one back.

Player Reactions
